In an increasingly digital world, there's something special about a high-quality physical product. Printed on soft-touch matte paper, proudly presented inside a Sterling Ultra Gloss cover, Atlantic Business Magazine is designed for maximum tactile appeal. You feel the difference the minute you pick it up. And that's just the beginning.

From our eye-catching covers to our carefully curated journalistic content, our magazine is both a recognized brand for discerning consumers as well as a valued business resource.

While each issue of Atlantic Business Magazine has a minimum two-month lifespan, it's longevity as a collector's item can extend into decades.

This is particularly true with our flagship issue of the year: the Top 50 CEO awards (published May/June), recognizing Atlantic Canadian corporate leadership excellence. Since launching this program in 1999, we have recognized almost 600 individual award winners who are collectively responsible for generating $1.85 trillion in revenue and creating over a million jobs.

Other editorial highlights:

- Best of Atlantic Canada Readers Choice awards (January/February)
- The Power Issue, incl. 25 Most Powerful Women (March/April)
- Diversity and Inclusion, incl. Employers of Diversity (July/August)
- Resource Development (September/October)
- The Innovation Issue, incl. 30 Under 30 Innovators (November/December)

You're known by the company you keep.

Social media advertising algorithms frequently target people who've already made a purchase. You know how it works: you buy a pair of shoes or a car and suddenly your social media feeds are full of ads for the product you've already bought. Not to mention the uncomfortable sensation that 'big brother' is listening in on your conversations.

The advantage of traditional advertising is that it creates a desire for your product or service before the consumer makes a purchasing decision. Bonus? Readers absorb information differently in print, meaning they're more likely to spend more time viewing (and digesting) your advertising message.

"The print magazine adds a hard copy validity to the recognition itself."

Whether you're a new brand looking for exposure or you're issuing a call-to-action for an exciting product development, Atlantic Business Magazine gives your marketing message the audience as well as the visual and tactile IMPACT it deserves—in the context of carefully researched, authoritative content.

Or you could let Facebook decide where you belong.

Display Ad or Branded Content?

A traditional display ad is ideal if you want to grab someone's immediate attention with a single powerful message. Think Nike's iconic "Just Do It!" brand awareness campaign or a time-sensitive call-to-action

Branded content offers you the opportunity to tell a deeper story: about you, your company and your product/service.

“

I have received great feedback from my peers and colleagues across the country for our sponsored content. ABM seems to have an excellent reputation and it is a magazine read by many leaders in the Atlantic provinces.”

President & CEO, CPA New Brunswick
